ABOUT AMITY SCHOOL OF LANGUAGES

ASL provides a platform for multi disciplinary and multilingual proficiency since its inception in 2007, ASL plays a major role in the internationalization of the HEI by providing teaching-learning in international languages: French, German, Spanish, and Mandarin. It aims to promote and implement active international collaborations through Student Exchange Programs. The school has established two Memorandum of Understandings (MOUs) with prestigious institutions in France: Sciences Po Bordeaux, Bordeaux (France) and Rennes School of Business (France). A highly equipped language laboratory provides students with an immersive environment for learning foreign languages. This exposure not only fosters language acquisition through an innovative self-directed learning approach but also enhances verbal skills. ASL ensures the development of globally competent graduates as per the CEFR levels A1-C1/C2. Additionally, all students at the university receive a Certificate of Proficiency in a foreign language upon completing their studies. The progressive UG and PG syllabi of core programmes offered by the department, BA (Hons) English with Research, BA (Hons) French with Research, MA English and MA French, familiarize students with contemporary trends and technical aspects of the field. The core programs foster the ability to think critically, interpret texts, and appreciate the power of language in shaping thought and representing the world. The department also offers Doctoral programmes in French, English, German and Spanish. With a thrust on international collaboration the Department aims to provide global exposure to students, scholars and researchers.
